CIGRE and the Committee for CIGRE-India

The International Council on Large Electric Systems (CIGRE), with its Headquarters at Paris deals in the field of Transmission and Generation. It functions through 16 Study Committees formed for various disciplines of Power Systems. Each Study Committee comprises about 24 experts drawn from various countries. In addition, some more experts are members of the Working Groups/Task Forces formed by these Study Committees. It is a matter of pride that India is represented in all the 16 CIGRE Study Committees as regular/observer member.

CIGRE (Paris) has about 10000 members from ninety countries. Where ever there are more than 40 equivalent members in any country a National Committee is formed with the following aims:

- To disseminate the technical information to the members of the national committee.
- To propose papers for presentation at Cigre sessions
- To encourage membership of CIGRE
- To organize representation in CIGRE session / symposia.
- From India there were 330 equivalent members for CIGRE in the year 2014.

CIGRE (India) is an affiliate of Central Board of Irrigation and Power. It is the Indian National Committee of CIGRE and is a registered society. It co-ordinates the activities of CIGRE in India, through a number of National Study Committees and disseminates the information about the activities of the CIGRE Study Committees and Working Groups to various organization in India.

About CIGRE SC B4

Study Committee B4 of CIGRE is responsible for HVDC systems and power electronics for AC systems. The objective of CIGRE SC B4 is to provide an international forum to share information between electric utilities, manufacturers, universities, standardizing bodies and authorities in selected topics in the field of HVDC and Power Electronics. Overhead lines or cables, which may be used in HVDC systems are not included in the scope, but are the responsibility of SC B2 and SC B1 respectively. The members of B4 come from Manufacturers, Utilities, transmission system operators (TSOs), Consultants and Research Institutes. B4 is active in recruiting young engineers to participate in its activities. SC B4 focuses on the provision of unbiased and up to date application guides for the implementation of HVDC and FACTS projects. SC B4 also provides such technical information to support the standardization required for the testing and application of new technology solutions.

About the Tutorial & Colloquium

CIGRE India is honored to host the meeting of CIGRE Study Committee B4 on HVDC and its working Groups in India from 21st to 23rd September 2015. To take advantage of the presence of CIGRE Study Committee, and its working Group members besides other International experts in India, CIGRE-India and Central Board of Irrigation and Power jointly with CIGRE Study Committee B4 on HVDC are organizing an International Tutorial and Colloquium on HVDC and STATCOM.

This colloquium is in conjunction with the meeting of CIGRE Study Committee B4 and its working groups in India from 21st to 26th Sept. 2015 at J.P. Hotel, Agra

Two days International Colloquium on “HVDC and STATCOM” is scheduled on 25-26 September 2015. The Colloquium is the biennial Technical Discussion Forum of the Study Committee for members, associates and experts of the discipline from the host country (i.e., India in this case). The Preferential Subjects which are going to be discussed are within the following scope:

- PS 1 : Planning Study and Future Requirements for DC System: Technological development; Operational feed back; Reliability & constraints
- PS 2 : Issues and Challenges in Integration of Renewable Resources (Solar & Wind): Technological development; Operational feed back; Reliability & constraints
- PS 3 : VSC based DC Transmission System and STATCOM: Technological development; Operational feed back; Reliability & constraints

DATE & VENUE : 21st - 26th September 2015, Jaypee Palace Hotel and Convention Centre, Agra, India

Agra Terminal of the HVDC 800 kV North East to Agra Multi Terminal Project the -venue for Technical Visit

The 800 kV HVDC terminals at Agra is located about 10 km from the venue. The Agra HVDC terminal is the Inverter station of the world's first 800 kV Multi terminal HVDC Project of 6000 MW capacity and total line length of about 1700 km. One Bipole Rectifier station is located in Biswanath Chariali (Assam) and the second one at Alipurduar (West Bengal). This multi terminal HVDC project was envisaged for evacuation of bulk power from North Eastern Region of India. North Eastern Region of India is endowed with large hydro potential of the order of 50 GW which is required to be transmitted to the load centers of Northern/Western and Southern regions of India. Transmission of such quantum of power over a long distance and through certain geographically narrow corridors called chicken-neck area of West Bengal required a HVDC solution. Looking into the generation addition program, the project has been developed stage wise using parallel groups of converters. Each pole of the Multi terminal HVDC Project has continuous power capacity of 2000 MW i.e., a 33% overload capability which can be utilized to compensate full power for loss of one pole by increasing power flow on the other three available poles. A huge indoor DC yard of about 75 x 75 m and 40 m height is a special feature at the Agra Inverter Station.

PARTICIPATION : Participation in the Study Committee/Working Groups Meetings is restricted to its members only. Invitees in the form of observers can also be allowed on specific invitation from Secretaries and Treasurer, CIGRE India.

The colloquium participants will include top experts in the field of development, design, application and operation of HVDC FACTS and power electronic equipment. The colloquium will be informative and beneficial for generating companies, transmission system planners, designers, operators, asset owners and managers, equipment developers and manufacturers, research institutions and universities and policy makers and regulators.

Participation in the Tutorials and Colloquium is open on payment of prescribed registration fee.

CIGRE SC B4 Regular members & Observer members and Working Group conveners are invited to participate in the Tutorials & Colloquium without payment of registration fee.

Please check your nearest Embassy, Consulate or High Commission for all the details for getting visa. Keep your passport with you at all the time Travel : Agra is connected to Delhi by NH2 and the new Yamuna Expressway. The drive time is about 4-5 hours depending on traffic and time of the day. Jaipur is connected to Agra by NH11 and is a 4-hour drive. Gwalior, connected by NH3 is a 1.5-hour drive while Lucknow and Kanpur, connected by NH2, are about a 2-hour and 5-hour drive respectively.

Agra is situated on the Delhi-Mumbai and Delhi-Chennai route and is well connected to most cities across India. There are regular trains to Agra from cities like Delhi, Jaipur, Gwalior and Jhansi. Agra is also well connected to cities in other parts of the country such as Kolkata, Mumbai and Chennai. There are five railway stations in Agra - Agra Cantt Station (the main station), Agra Fort Railway Station, Raja ki Mandi, Agra City and Idgah Railway Station.

Banking and Communication Facilities: Foreign exchange facilities, fax and phone service are available at the hotels as well as the venue of the Colloquium.

Climate: Agra being a city in North India gets a privilege of all four weathers of Indian Subcontinent. The month of July marks the commencement of monsoons in Agra, which last almost till October. The rainy season comes as a relief from the hot summers, to the people of Agra. The intensity of rainstorm decreases in the month of September as monsoon starts to withdraw. Temperature in Agra ranges between 17 °C to 34 °C in the month of September.

India - The Host Country

India – the very name conjures images of vibrant colors, mysticism, royalty; an amalgam of religions, a kaleidoscope of art and culture, all of which find expression in the beautiful temples, sculptures and monuments. India's ancient and diverse culture, sweeping back at least 5000 years, with successive waves of migration absorbed into the fabric of Indian life, has enriched it time and again to make a multi-cultural nation with a rich diversity of languages, customs, cuisines, religions, literature and arts. Within this kaleidoscope of immense variety there is a thread of continuity that has determined Indian civilization and social structure.

India, it is often said, is not a country but a continent. From north to south and east to west, the people are different, the languages are different, and the country is different. There are few countries on earth with the enormous variety that India has to offer.

India is a land of romance and dreams, of splendor and extravagance, of forts and palaces, beaches and jungles, a kaleidoscope of vibrant colors and rituals. Explore the diversity of Northern India expressed by the mystic ambience in Varanasi, through the architectural magnificence of the Taj Mahal in Agra and the majestic forts and palaces of Gwalior and Rajasthan.

India rewards the traveler with her timeless landscapes, spectacular architecture, monumental history, cultural kaleidoscope and undeniable aura of romance and mysticism. To explore India is to discover unending secrets to the mystery of life, to enjoy India is to celebrate the very fact of living.

Agra - The Host City

Agra is a city on the banks of the river Yamuna in the northern state of Uttar Pradesh, India. With a population of 2 Million, it is one of the most populous cities in Uttar Pradesh and the 19th most populous in India. It is a major tourist destination because of its many splendid Mughal-era buildings, most notably the Tāj Mahal, Agra Fort and Fatehpūr Sikrī, all three of which are UNESCO World Heritage Sites. Agra is included on the Golden Triangle tourist circuit, along with Delhi and Jaipur.

Legend ascribes the founding of the city to Raja Badal Singh, a Sikarwar Rajput king (c. 1475), whose fort, Badalgarh, stood on or near the site of the present fort. However, the 11th century Persian poet Mas'ūd Sa'd Salmān writes of a desperate assault on the fortress of Agra, then held by the Shāhī King Jayapala, by Sultan Mahmud of Ghazni. It was mentioned for the first time in 1080 AD when a Ghaznavide force captured it. Sultan Sikandar Lodī (1488–1517) was the first to move his capital from Delhi to Agra in 1506. He governed the country from here and Agra assumed the importance of the second capital. He died in 1517 and his son, Ibrāhīm Lodī, remained in power there for nine more years and several palaces, wells and a mosque were built by him in the fort during his period. Finally being defeated at the Battle of Panipat in 1526. Between 1540 and 1556, Afghans, beginning with Sher Shah Suri ruled the area. It achieved fame as the capital of the Mughal Empire from 1556 to 1658.

In and around Agra: Agra's neighborhood provides exciting excursion and tourist's circuits. It is an ideal stay for business and relaxation. However, there are quite a few worthwhile places to visit in Agra and around, apart from India's most famous monument -- the Taj Mahal. The many interesting remnants of the Mughal era will surprise you and the crazy, congested bazaars of the Old City will fascinate you. It's possible to experience village life and get close to nature as well.
